

Author & Architect Expertise

The lead and primary author is Mr. Jason Tratch who is:

- recognized as a leading global expert in Management Systems and Project Management. He teaches at University Masters Courses and Colleges and speaks regularly at conferences, seminars and Trade Delegations. Mr. Tratch has direct work experience in: environment, construction, mining, education, health, financials, technology, agriculture, manufacturing, biotechnology, and real estate. Examples of cultural environments also worked in include: extreme remote fieldwork, first nations and multicultural, technology R&D, government, private, university, and nonprofit,
- certified in Market Entry Strategy (FITT), Project Management (PMP), Quality Management (ISO 9000 Series), Auditing (ISO 9000), Process Management (Six Sigma), Construction (Journeyman Carpenter), Mechanics (John Deere University) and Wastewater Collection & Treatment (Level 2 Certification). Mr. Tratch holds two degrees in Biology (B.Sc.) and Agriculture (B.S.A.) and is a certified Professional Agrologist (P.Ag.),
- an active blogger, volunteer, speaker and passionate proponent for making Project Management become more professional and helping it become more formalized and integrated into all businesses (less stress for all employees). For a detailed Bio and to view Mr. Tratch's blog, please visit: www.jasontratch.com.

The Architects and Designers of these Online Courses focused their expertise on the knowledge transfer objectives, architecture, structure and navigation approach. Multiple training and education experts were involved including people with PhDs, Cyber School Principles/Administrators and Traditional Principles/Administrators. These architects/designers are:

- recognized as leading global experts in knowledge transfer, online education and training, learning management systems. Taught for decades. Designed, developed, operated and maintained an online school, courses, organizations and associated programs, alliances and partnerships. Managed and administered schools both rural and within cities.
- sought after as speakers for business and education conferences, seminars related to online knowledge transfer, training and education architecture, design, development and operations. Achieved educational certifications and recognized continuously with local, national and international awards.